Dear Andrew: He aint gone yet.

Announcement fees for Sheriff and Chancery Clerk, $15.00; for other county officers, $10.00; for super and beat officers, $5.00. That is, if you just WILL announce this soon. Those contemplating announcing are requested to bring in a picture about a week ahead and we will bear the expense of a cut, if we do not already have one.

This is a fine war for another reason. Officers at the camp drive heavy trucks in to bring or receive pressed uniforms. There must be no real rubber shortage after all if this practice is as wide spread everywhere as it is here. In the other war, when there was no shortage of rubber, I never heard of such a thing.

Horn spent all day Sunday revising our mailing list. From the 20th of December, 1942 until January 16, 1943, we added 72 new subscribers to our mailing list. This is about 3 a day, including Sundays.

I saw two soldiers (I have forgotten whether they were officers or enlisted men) drive a big truck to town and unload four barracks bags evidently half filled with spoiled clothes. Fine war!!

Every day I see from ten to fifteen trucks driven by officers whose mission is apparently only that of bringing clothes to the laundry or obtaining some clean clothes from the laundry. It seems to me, if there is a rubber shortage, these men could come and go on one of the regularly scheduled buses.

I am not running this war, but there is too much goldbricking, to be paid for by the taxpayers, going on in this vicinity. I cannot speak for other camp towns.

Our very newest subscriber is Staff Sergeant Selwyn M. Jones, son of Mrs. Mary U. Jones. Sell is evidently in England or Africa. He is in the heat zone which next to the para-troopers, is the suicide squad. Good luck, old boy.

Cousin S. A. Hall, of the free state sent in a renewal recently.

Judge McKibben helped keep Greenfield out of devilmont Monday.

dear mr hop, do you guess mr kennett nose what he is tawking about when he sees mr mike corner is the leading kandy date for givner.

Brother Felts of Fulton, Kentucky, was a recent visitor to the GCW. He is holding his own mighty well. He is visiting the Anderson family and the Clanton family.

The Abe Isenbergs certainly have two well behaved and well trained children.

Dr. Clanton has not got used to his new teeth yet.

Ask Ed Underwood to tell you that tale about the unweaned puppy.

Aint they sweet.

George Nall, of Bew Springs cast his lot with us. If we get many Nalls, we will get a keg of them, and then can retire.

I have seen more than one young back negro going around the street wearing a once-white sweater with marking something like this, "U. S. Army, Camp McCain," printed in blue on the sweater. In my opinion that should be stopped. In fact, if the negro is within the age limit, he should be sent there he can wear olive drab.

To much bicycle riding on the side walks in Grenada. That practice is dangerous to pedestrians. Let's stop the practice, or build bicycle paths, leave the street for cars, the path for bicycles, and the sidewalks for pedestrians.

Examine the expiration date on YOUR copy and see if YOU are delinquent. For example, 1-43, means your subscription expires in January, 1943.

We are equipped to print personal stationery for men in every branch of service; name, Camp McCain emblem and emblem of branch of service; or the 87th Division insignia may be substituted for either of above.

Private John H. Williams, of Camp Shbert, Alabama, is supposed to be getting news from home via these columns. Hope you get a stripe soon, Pvt. Williams.

We have received numerous written and oral commendations for our "All Out For Victory" edition.

Every new subscriber gets a bonus of one special edition, mailed or by hand.

Ensign John Rundle, Jr. U. S. N. Buried Here Monday

ENSIGN JOHN RUNDLE, JR. Monday, January 18, was a dreary cold day, the kind one exclaims over and says "I believe we will have a snow tonight." It was the kind of day which most of us will remember as an unkind day after the spring-like weather of the past week. That day, January 18th was the day on which one of Grenada's finest boys, Ensign John Rundle, Jr.'s mortal remains were gently placed in the bosom of Mother earth and away forever from the sight of man.

Fully fifteen hundred friends of this young man and of his honored parents, Professor and Mrs. Rundle, stood with bowed, uncovered heads, grief stricken over the loss to the family and the community of so promising a genuine Christian citizen.

Ensign Rundle was stricken at sea, and as his condition became increasingly grave he was sent to New York Marine Hospital. Here everything possible, everything, was done to save his life. He died at eleven o'clock, at night on Wednesday, January 13, 1943 before his parent who had been summoned at ten o'clock that morning could reach his bedside.

The grief stricken parents, after completing necessary arrangements, returned to Memphis on Saturday night and were met there by their friend and neighbor, Dr. J. K. Avent and by the Methodist minister, Rev. W. L. Robinson, pastor of the church to which Professor Rundle and John, Jr. belonged.

In the early hours of Monday morning, January 18, John's body was brought home. The beautiful American flag was neatly spread, as a mantle of honor, over his casket. The young man from New York, who acted as an escort, was the embodiment of dignity, and the local American Legion members, forming the honor guard, blended grief and dignity in their care of one of their own.

All day Monday the Rundle home on Margin Street was filled with friends who came to offer their sympathy. At that time the funeral was held at the Methodist Church, Professor Rundle and his wife bore up under the strain of grief and loss, knowing that tomorrow they must again face life without their son—with poignant memories of secret and sacred joy which are as many precious jewels to parents.

To Mr. and Mrs. Rundle, whom we love and admire we offer our heartfelt sympathy.

"The Eternal God is thy refuge, and underneath are the everlasting arms." Deut. 33:27.

One last thought: as the years go on, and the sadness of life comes home to us, we feel that we get the reality of God and a simple trust in Christ hereafter. It is like a strong hand in the dark to believe that God our Father loved us and gave us eternal comfort and good hope through grace. That is the infallible way of finding comfort for our hearts and establishing them in every good work and word. Without faith in God's love and future for us, there cannot be any true and permanent comfort. With faith in these, we can lift up our burden of grief and loss, and perform our task with peace and even find joy in our work.

Pallbearers were J. C. Hathorn, Duval Proudfit, Bobby Sharp, Sonny Hays, Giles Patty, and Charles Murray, the latter of Oxford.

The mass of beautiful flowers, the concourse of friends far beyond the capacity of the Methodist Church, and the visitors to the stricken home attested far more than mere words can portray the respect that the people had not only for the brave lad but for his parents.

Thus tragedy ends a promising young life.

HIS CAPTAIN'S LETTER

U. S. S. Dorothea L. Dix, Jan. 14, '43 Dear Mr. and Mrs. Rundle:

It is with grave and deep feeling of sympathy that I write you concerning the death of your son, Ensign John N. Rundle, U. S. N. R., which occurred on January 13, 1943, at the Marine Hospital, Staten Island, New York.

John's illness first became evident on December 23, 1942, on board ship

while at sea. He was given all medical assistance which excellent facilities provided but his condition continued to regress. On arrival of the ship in port, he was immediately transferred to the hospital.

Your son was extremely well-liked aboard ship and all officers and men share your deep grief at his passing.

John's popularity was the result of his fine leadership and loyal devotion to duty. He demonstrated superb courage when he commanded the tank wave landing on a beach in Africa during the recent occupation of French Morocco.

The remembrance that your son died on active duty in the service of his country, I know, will help you bear your sorrow.

Very truly yours,
L. B. Schulten (Signed)
Captain, U. S. Navy.

This is a fine war. Our son, Andrew, in the Air Corps at Smyrna Field, Tennessee, is a veteran of three months' service. He has just been allowed to come home three times, and is looking for a furlough sometime soon.

The WPA is dying a hard death.

At later date I will begin an active and aggressive campaign and will do my dead level best to see each and everyone of you to solicit your vote and support. In the meantime won't you consider my qualifications and my plan to give ANOTHER YOUNG MAN A CHANCE?

If I am elected your chancery clerk I promise to give you an honest, sober and impartial administration of the affairs of the office I seek.

Sincerely yours,
BYRON HUNTER.

BRIGADIER GENERAL JOHN L. MCKEE

The new assistant commander of the 87th Infantry Division, Camp McCain, Mississippi, is Brigadier General John L. McKee a man who has risen from the ranks. He fay well be proud of his record because his present high position has been attained through his ability and leadership.

General McKee was born in Pennsylvania, but reared and educated in Richmond, the historic city of Virginia. In 1913 he was a private in the First Squadron in the Cavalry of the Virginia National Guard. He was a member of the organization until he became a second Lieutenant in the 7th Infantry Regiment on June 5, 1917. In August of the same year he was promoted to the rank of 1st Lieutenant and exchanged his brass bars for silver ones.

But that was only one in a series of promotions for General McKee. In that same month of August he became a temporary Captain and added another silver bar to the ones he already wore. In recognition for his excellent work under action in France during World War I, he received his permanent rating in July of 1920 and was commander of various units for the next 17 years.

In 1934 another mark of approval was stamped on General McKee's record, when in the month of August he was elevated to the rank of Major, and held that position until July, 1940 when he became a Lieutenant Colonel.

In 1941 John L. McKee became a full colonel and also Chief of the Pacific Section of Operations Division. He held this vital position for a year and a half. In September, 1942, was appointed Brigadier General and became assistant commander of the 8th Division.

Brigadier General John L. McKee came to the 87th Infantry Division, as assistant commander, in January of 1943, and in the short time he has been here, he has made himself well liked and respected by those who came in contact with him. His knowledge of military matters and wide experience will prove a great asset to the 87th Division.

The General is a graduate of two very fine education schools, the Virginia Military Institute and Richmond University. He also attended the Infantry School, Command and General Staff School and Army War College.

In May, 1942, General McKee was sent as a special representative of the War Department for a tour of inspection of the Hawaiian Islands and South Pacific Bases. During the time he was on this inspection, General McKee covered 15,000 miles by airplane in 3 weeks of visiting our vital far flung outposts of the Pacific. His store of information gathered during this trip will prove valuable in the training of men.

The General is the possessor of many regular service medals for the actions he participated in. He received medals for service on the Mexican Border with the National Guard in 1916. In addition he has the victory medal with the following battle clasps: Aisne-Marne, Aisne, Champagne-Marne and Defense Sector.

The 87th Infantry Division is indeed fortunate to number among the many prominent officers, an outstanding soldier and personality as General John L. McKee. His vital interest in the proper training of men and his grasp of the situation are well illustrated by his message to his former unit.

"I feel that the time is not far distant when we will be required to put into actual use many of the things we have been practicing from day to day in our training. Let each of us take advantage of every remaining opportunity to prepare ourselves both as individuals and as an efficient fighting team so that we will not be found wanting when we are put to the test of battle."

GIVE COAT HANGERS FOR SOLDIERS

The soldiers at Camp McCain are badly in need of coat hangers, and it has been requested that the citizens of Grenada help to overcome the shortage. Mrs. Ryder, wife of the camp's Commanding Officer, has asked various school clubs to collect the hangers. On Saturday, January 23, a house to house canvass will be made by these organizations.

This is a very small way in which we may greatly benefit the numbers of men in uniform who are serving us constantly. Practically every family in Grenada can give up at least a few of these hangers that are so unimportant to themselves and yet so very valuable to the soldiers. Won't you please cooperate by having your husbands ready to be collected Saturday?"

F. S. A. Holds Annual "Farm Ownership Borrowers" Meet

Supply remains a standard and vital mission of the army today, same as it has in centuries past. Army camps require an efficient and uninterrupted flow of supplies three hundred and sixty-five days a year, to the end that the men in training might have plenty to eat and proper clothing to wear.

Camp McCain, Mississippi is no exception to this rule, and with its large modern warehouses, refrigerator plants and splendid network of fine roads, a gigantic and serious business institution, headed by Major Arthur M. McCoy, Director of the Supply Division, is setting up a record for "getting things done."

A war of speed requires an open road for supply as well as alert and keen thinking minds on the part of the officers and men of the supply branch, and it is really an education to visit Major McCoy's office at Camp McCain, where a vast flow of endless problems are met and handled with dispatch each day.

Do Away With Damphoolishness

In spite of the fact that we have a war on hand, and every person, capable of work, has an opportunity to work at unprecedentedly high wages, we still have the NYA, the WPA, (which was supposed to have been abolished a month or more ago), the AAA, the FSA, and the Lord knows how many other of the outfits designed to "save" humanity.

I will offer a prize of a copy of one of our Special Editions to anyone whom the WPA, or any other of these parenteralistic schemes, has helped permanently. Most of the beneficiaries of these schemes are worse off for having been "saved," for they have got it firmly imbedded in their respective noddles that the government OWES them a living. There is a whole generation of people in America that know nothing but "relied" in its various forms.

The government does not owe anyone a living. The Bible says substantially that a man shall earn a living from the sweat of his brow, not from the public treasury.

I fear for the future. I believe that, come the end of the war, agriculture will be principally under the FSA, or its successor. The government has acquired an immense acreage of valuable farm land. If Grenada county is to be taken as an example, the government has acquired the CREAM of the land. Look at the thousands of acres of our finest live! land that is now Camp McCain. Look at that huge tract of level land which is now the air base. No better land is in the county than the State (or Hoffa), and the Whitaker lands near Oxberry which have been condemned and made into the emergency landing field.

Our budget calls for 100 BILLIONS for the next fiscal year—a sum so great that the human mind can not grasp it immensely. 100 billions are for war purposes, while 9 billions are for ORDINARY expenses, which includes the cost of a lot of these damphool agencies which could be junked without loss to the nation. The nation was operated from 1779 until 1914, with LESS than 9 billions of dollars, which we now use for ORDINARY expenses in one year.

War Coming "Home" To Us

War is coming "home" to us now. I have frequently published the query, "Will we wait until the flag-draped casket containing the body of some loved one comes back to Grenada before we realize there is a war going on?"

A flag-draped casket has come home. This casket contained the remains of Ensign John Riddle, a fine, upstanding young man. From the way his death shocked the community, the war DID come "home" to the community this week.

It will, unfortunately, not end with the arrival of John's body. It may be YOUR boy or MY boy the next time. Before sanity and peace are restored to the world, hundreds of flag-draped caskets will come on a one-way trip to this community.

In time, the community itself will become hardened to the experiences, but the parents will NEVER become hardened to the arrival of a son who died, as John did, in the service of his country.

Grim and perilous times are ahead. Crepe will hang from many doors. Widows and orphans will multiply in number. Parents, bereft of their sons, will become commonplace.

Fine War!!

When I was in the army during the last war, I either washed my own clothes or HIRED a taxi or walked and carried my dirty clothes to a laundry or to a washwoman.

I work right here on Green Street. I see things that shock my sense of the fitness of things. Dozens of times a day I see immense trucks drive up, sometimes with only one uniform aboard, to the laundry receiving station or to the other laundry. Maybe two or three officers are aboard, sometimes just one. Then I see empty trucks drive up and take on a bundle of laundry or a cleaned uniform.

THEN, in almost every daily newspaper I read, I see where there is a terrible scarcity of rubber, and see where the already rigorous rationing of gasoline may be further increased.

If buses did not run regularly between the camp and town, there might be some excuse—not for a truck bringing one or two uniforms—for a government truck being used to haul something like a capacity load of soiled clothes. As it is, buses run at frequent intervals. Even a big shot like a second Lieutenant should be forced to tote his uniform to the bus stop, pay 30 cents for a round trip ticket and bring his dirty linen to town at HIS OWN expenses.

Seen, Heard and Told By The Editor

Sgt. Dade H. Rice's wife and Cpl. John W. McCormick's wife will visit their respective husbands this weekend. It's grand to have the old ladies back, isn't it, boys?

I guess I will be forced to dun some of our delinquents, for they will pay no heed to the expiration date printed right by their names each week. Oh, me.

I think I will resolve to look after the GOW in 1943 and not mix too damn much into politics or other things that I have no business messing in. Of course, I am going to write to Andrew every week.

Miscellaneous Thoughts

I just had to refuse to publish a long list of folks that the civil service needed at the camp laundry workers, shoe repairers, and many other workers. I want to cooperate, but the government, which has a budget of 100 billions of dollars, did not set aside a COPPER CENT for space in the hard pressed newspapers. The county, the city and the state pay for everything that goes into newspapers. Then, too, stores are being stripped of porters, farms are being stripped of workers, and, in general, the local economy is being shot to hell by the governmental competition for their help. First and last, everybody will be working at the camp, and there will be nobody to carry on the local economy.

The colored girl referred to in last week's paper—who said she was getting $90.00 a month for picking up teddies, brassiers, night gowns (if such are now used) and dusting and sweeping nurses' quarters—has quit her job. She has a NEW husband who earns (?) $100.00 (according to her) shoveling coal, and she thinks that should be enough to keep her and husband in comparative comfort. I do too.

Toll taxes must be paid on or before February 1, 1943. Everybody knows this, but most of you have been procrastinating in the matter. This is the BIG year, when the supervisors are elected. The supervisor, especially in the rural beats, is the most important officer holding a commission.

City taxpaying time is just around the corner and, if you ask me, they are high as hell especially in the business section. I note that my realty assessments have been raised $1,000.00. Now, if other property has been raised in proportion, I do not guess I have any right to talk; but, if it has not, I am going to talk a plenty, whether it does me any good or not. For IDENTICAL property I paid the county $35.80, and I must pay the City $70.15, just about double. I am going to look up and see whether the bakery property, just next door, is assessed more than mine. It is a new and larger building. The lot is the same size. If the bakery property is the same as mine, I am going to raise hell, whether it gets me anywhere or not. I may publicly make some invidious comparisons in residential property. P. S. I just called "Miss" Willy, and found out that the bakery property was assessed at $500 more than my property. Last year my property was assessed at $1000.00; this year at $1780.00; last year the bakery at $1000.00; this year at $2280.00. Some raises!!

About the only advantage of owning one's own place of business or home (and that's a great advantage) is that nobody can raise your rent, or put you out.

If business property on Commerce Street is not really worth more than business property on Green Street, I will eat my hat.

Another army truck, with six heavy rubber tires, just rolled up with a couple of officers who got about seven pounds of laundry and sped away.

I wish Jim Eastland would introduce some bill, and seek its passage, whereby a man who is deferred on account of occupational or family status, or one who is rejected for physical reasons, will be provided with some suitable badge or ribbon—and papers to "back it up," so that people will not look at this deferred or rejected man like a bull looks at a bastard calf. A man often suffers from ailments that only a physician can detect. He carries no physical evidence that he has a house full of kids at home, nor can the eye of the public detect any evidence on the man that he is engaged in vital work.

The idea of a 12,000,000-man army is, in my opinion, fantastic. Such an army would require at least one-half of the able bodied men in the United States. We need a GOOD army more than we need a BIG army. We cannot have a GOOD army unless that army is properly fed, clothed, equipped and officered.

I think that EVERY single man should be sent to Camp Shelby for examination before ANY married man is sent. Yet, there is talk that men with children will be sent before the middle of the year.

Abernathy is getting his knife sharp to operate on some of Ford's incompetent pets. He is going to cut the naval cords between the pets and the U. S. Treasury.

I am glad to see that the potential candidates in Grenada County are not jumping the gun like candidates are in Calhoun and some other counties. April 1, I think, is plenty of time to make formal announcements.

Mississippi is going to need some able, competent man, like Mike Conner, to steer the State through the headaches and the heartaches which surely will come during the administration of the next Governor. No one yet mentioned is as able and as competent as Mike Conner, even though Mike does not kiss every baby he sees, or yell plum across the square at some acquaintance. Mississippi needs a Governor, not a back-patter and a baby-kisser.

Hold On To It

At the present time the citizens of Grenada still have the privilege of electing their own Marshal and their own City Clerk.

God knows we have little enough local self-government left, with all of the federal and state encroachments, and we should hold on to the few shreds of liberty of selection that we have.

The supers gave Bogne bridge to the government. Good riddance of bad rubbish. The bridge has been dangerous a long time.

Jim Eastland ought to subscribe. I have sent him a few complimentary copies, but no more. Paper is too scarce.

Major Horton Dubard, Chief of Staff at Navy Hospital at New Orleans, and his wife were guests of their cousins, Mr. and Mrs. W. V. Dubard, at Dubard last weekend.

It looks like Bill Saunders is making a conscientious Commander of the region.

Fine war!!

Our spoiled child spent the weekend with us. She goes to All Saints in Vicksburg.

dere m' top. be mint gone yet.

Sorry to see that Captain Oosterling has been transferred, but believe Lt. Grimes will make a good Camp Adjutant.

Arkansas Dad Writes Soldier Son News From Home

My Dear Orphen

Just a few lines to let you know we are well and happy. Your mother is sick. She weighs 511 lbs. The doctor took her to the hospital. He did not know whether to operate or blast. He blasted and she is worse but they say she could be lots worse. Business is picking up here in Arkansas. Corn picker has gone up to 50¢ a gallon, or 2 gals for half a dollar. The corn crop looks good. Guess we will get about 10 gals to the acre.

We heard Caledonia is a wet town so I'm sending you your rain coat by return parcel post. The coat was so heavy I cut off the buttons to save expenses. You'll find them in the left hand pocket.

Bill Jackson got his whiskers caught in a fly wheel of his corn sheller. He was killed on Monday and died on Saturday. We are building a new brick house. We are using the block of the old brick house to build the new brick house. We will live in the old brick house until the new brick house is finished. We have all new inconveniences in our new house, hot and cold running chamber mands and epileptic lights. We had to take down one of the wind mills cause we didn't have enough wind to blow both of them.

We have a bath room in our new house. In one corner is a place to wash your hands. In another is a place to bathe all over in another is a place to wash your feet, but the man that made it must have made a mistake cause he sent two lids with it. We didn't know what to do with them so we made a bread board out of one and we framed grandpa's picture in the other.

While painting the barn Sam Spivins sat down in a barrel of turpentine. He was last seen going through Little Rock.

Your old friend, Sally had a 10 lbs boy, try to get home for the wedding. Your dog is full of fleas. Hope you are the same and may heaven keep you from

Your loving Father.

PS—If you don't receive this please write and let me know.

An Objection

Grenada, Miss., Jan. 17, 1943
Mr. Whitaker:

In your editorial about riding bikes on the sidewalks, we have to ride somewhere to keep from being hit. People will come tearing down the street about a foot from the sidewalk or parked cars. What do you want us to do get run over? Well we have to ride on the sidewalks. If the people would stay a reasonable distance from the sidewalks or parked cars, we would not have to ride on the sidewalks

New Bishop of Diocese Of Mississippi

The Rev. Duncan Montgomery Gray, 44, rector of Church of Nativity at Greenwood, was elected Bishop of the Episcopal Diocese of Mississippi by the clergy and laity attending the 115th annual council session at St. Andrew's Church. He succeeds the late Bishop Wm. Mercer Green. He is the fifth bishop of Mississippi. Date of election January 20, 1943. Consecration of the new bishop will probably take place in Jackson in about three months.

Mr. Gray spoke briefly following his election, and said, "I pledge you, if it be God's will that I be consecrated, that I will give my all and do the best I know how."

LOCAL APPOINTMENTS

Other diocesan officers elected include the Rev. Charles S. Liles, of Grenada, as a member of the Executive Committee from the clergy and Dr. S. B. Cartthers, of Grenada, as member of the Executive Committee from the lay members.

The highlight of the enjoyable day came when Mrs. Neely presented Mrs. Aldridge with a $25.00 war bond, given by the Mississippi Power and Light Co., for keeping the best nutrition record for three months.

Mrs. Neely also distributed some pamphlets intended to better enlighten the public on the "Share the Meat Program. Each member was asked to pass on a few copies to his neighbors,

After a delightful game sponsored by our Recreational Leader, Mrs. Vivian Taylor, the meeting adjourned to meet in February with Mrs. Lucy Wilson.

Everyone is especially urged to attend as Mrs. Neely plans to hold a chicken culling demonstration.

Hamilton Replaces Purdy With Land Bank Here

Bascom B. Hamilton, of Greenwood, Miss., has been appointed Secretary-Treasurer of the national farm loan association with group office in the Heath Building at Grenada, Mississippi, to replace Mr. V. W. Purdy who has joined the armed forces, according to announcement made by Dr. Roy L. Thompson, President of the Federal Land Bank of New Orleans.

After a short wedding trip, the couple will make their home here, where Mr. Purdy is stationed.—Missoula News

MISS DORIS KIRK IS MARRIED
The marriage of Miss Doris Kirk and Lieutenant (jg) Hurd Horton, M. C. U. S. N. R., took place New Year's Eve at the home of the bride's aunt, Mrs. Elizabeth Shaw, 1870 South Bayshore Drive, at 8 p. m.

Miss Kirk was given in marriage by her uncle, Lieutenant P. H. Nippert, M. C. U. S. N. R. She wore a sheer alpaca suit of dull blue with navy accessories and a corsage of pastel orchids.

Miss Ananell Workman was maid of honor and Ensign R. M. Cleverton, U. S. N. R. was Lieutenant Horton's best man.

The Rev. Daniel Iverson of the Shenandoah Presbytery church performed the double-ring ceremony before an improvised altar banked with white gladioli and potted palms.

A reception followed the ceremony. Assisting were Mrs. P. H. Nippert and Mrs. M. E. Garrison, who with Mr. Nippert, are house guests of Mrs. Shaw.

Of all the struggles on the home front, one that seems especially worthwhile waging is the fight against trachite paroxysm, our children's enemy. This is the 17th annual appeal from January 15 to 30th. This year there will be no birthday balls but the march of dollars and dimes. The road on the need this year is unusually great lies in the grim news that an epidemic is due owing to the fact that infantile paroxysm increases alarmingly where there is mass migration of people. Grenada County has one new case. Won't you watch for the containers in the stores and public places and give generously to this worthy cause? Anyone desiring to make donations of larger amounts please mail check or call 327 to Ruby H. Hudson, County Chairman, Grenada, Miss.

Now to bring the news up to today, Mary Smith, alias Mrs. Hartlin, is the new face in Building No. 5, here at Construction Headquarters. Mary was working in Gulfport in the Mechanics Aviation Training School there, and was recently transferred to Camp McCain to work in the equipment section here. Her husband, Max Harbin, is the F. S. A. Supervisor of Yalobusha county.

Mr. Al Villane, of Southern Tree Co., left for Pensacola this Monday, this time for good. He isn't coming back, he says.

And another gone-for-good is our Squatty Hall, who left this Thursday, to go home to Vicksburg. His little girl is in a dance recital there this weekend, and he is just as excited as she is about it.

There were two big bridge games raging around Grenada last night. The men congregated at the Youngblood's, where Harvey was charming host, and the women at the Wade's. About ten-thirty, at the height of the battle, we left, but at one-thirty, the game closed, and here are the result: Mrs. Trusty, ten-cent winner among the women, and Mr. Bogey Moor, of Greenwood, and Mr. Jack Harris, dollar winner among the men.

There was a very fine dance given at the Post Monday night, at which both soldiers and guests seemed to enjoy themselves immensely, but we're not going to take a chance on the details.

Week of February 8-13 has been set aside in Grenada County as Victory Book Week. Be sure to get a good book or the price of a good book to Miss Elizabeth Jones at the Grenada County Library.

WEEKLY NEWS ANALYSIS

Jap Armada Repulsed in New Guinea; Russians' Rostov-Caucasus Offensive Wins Back Vital Areas From Germans; FDR Cites 'Miracle' of War Production

(EDITOR'S NOTE: When opinions are expressed in these columns, they are those of Western Newspaper Union's news analysis and not necessarily of this newspaper.)

Released by Western Newspaper Union.

ROOSEVELT: Better World Ahead

Bad news for the Axis, good news for the United Nations and the assurance of victory followed by post-war economic security were the three most significant elements in President Roosevelt's annual message to the 78th Congress.

In delivering his bad news to the Axis on all fronts, the President bluntly announced: "Now our aim is to force the Japanese to fight. Last year we stopped them. This year we intend to advance." In the African area he promised that the last vestige of Axis power would be driven from the south shores of the Mediterranean. Concerning Europe, he said, "We are going to strike—and strike hard."

The good news for the United Nations was contained in Mr. Roosevelt's enumeration of the "miracle of production" at home, as well as the evidence of close co-operations between all Allied leaders. In his summary of accomplishments during the last year, the President listed the production of 48,000 airplanes, 56,000 tanks and self-propelled artillery weapons, and 10,431,000,000 rounds of ammunition and the transporting of 1,500,000 men of our 7,000,000 armed forces overseas. Significantly, he revealed that more supplies are now being flown by American planes to China than were ever transported over the Burma road.

In his approaches to postwar planning and domestic policy, the President succeeded in promoting good will for the administration in a congress now closely balanced in political faith. He suggested principles rather than specific recommendations for legislation that might stir up factional disputes.

NORTH AFRICA: Allies Coil

Give and take operations continued on the Tunisian front, with the Allied forces steadily recruiting their strength until superior air and land power aided by more favorable weather would enable them to smash ahead in the all-out assault for Bizerte and Tunis.

American troop concentrations were speeded in the new U. S. fifth under Lieut. Gen. Mark Clark. British infantry units wrested important heights from the Germans west of Bizerte.

The British, however, were dislodged from these positions by fierce German counter-attacks indicating the enemy's determination to contest every remaining foot of African soil.

British and American bombers were active in the air, while Allied submarines harassed Axis shipping in the Mediterranean, sinking two enemy ships believed to be carrying troops to Africa.

In the east, General Sir Bernard Montgomery's British eighth army had been sparring for an opening for a new push on Tripoli.

On the diplomatic front it was reported that Gen. Charles de Gaulle, leader of the Fighting French, and Gen. Henri Giraud had agreed to a discussion of North African problems designed to speed French action against the Axis in collaboration with their Allies.

LOCAL TRANSPORT: ODT Takes Over

In a far-reaching executive order designed to speed up the movement of war workers, President Roosevelt placed Defense Transportation Director Joseph B. Eastman in charge of local bus lines and street cars.

The effect was to give ODT complete supervision over all local transportation equipment and to authorize Mr. Eastman to revise present service and schedules wherever necessary to step up the movement of passengers to and from war plants.

SOUTH PACIFIC: Japs Are Stubborn

Although General MacArthur's forces had cleared the enemy out of the Papuan peninsula, the Japs still held an area in New Guinea as large as Texas and Oklahoma combined. That the Japanese intended to stubbornly hold this area was evident from their naval operations to reinforce it.

First Jap efforts in this direction were frustrated when United Nations bombers attacked a convoy of 16 enemy ships off Lee, 160 miles up the eastern New Guinea coast from Buna. The Allied airmen sank two ships, one a 15,000-ton vessel loaded with troops, scored hits on a third and shot down 18 Jap planes, according to a communiqué from General MacArthur's headquarters.

Meanwhile other Allied airmen roved as far as Gasmata and Rabaul in neighboring New Britain, where unusually heavy concentrations of Jap troop and supply ships and war craft had assembled.

In the Solomons, American fliers continued to assert Allied air supremacy by attacking Jap airfields at Munda and Kahili on Bougainville island. Meanwhile in Burma, British planes strafed the area north of Akyab and damaged enemy shipping off Burma's west coast.

RUSS STEAMROLLER: Gains Momentum

Best news for the United Nations' cause continued to come from the far-flung expanses of south and central Russia.

The Reds' two-pronged threat aimed at Rostov, vital city at the mouth of the Don, grew more menacing to the Nazi defenders, as both the northern and southern arms of the pincers continued to make new gains, capturing 61 villages in the Middle Don and rolling up impressive advances in the Caucasus.

The Caucasus offensive was especially significant, for after expelling the Nazis from Mordovia, gateway to the Grozny oil fields, and from strategic Nalchik, the Russ pressed the retreating Germans hard, advancing toward Mineralna Voda, center of a network of Caucasus railroads.

The capture of more than a dozen Caucasus towns indicated that the Nazi front in the area was breaking up faster than in any previous battle.

The seriousness of the German plight in the Caucasus was emphasized by the fact that for the first time the Berlin radio conceded that Axis troops were retreating in the east Caucasus, explaining that their troops had carried out a shortening of the front, according to plan by giving up advanced strong points.

PETROLEUM RATION: East Curbed Again

The OPA cut deeper into the use of rationed petroleum products in 17 eastern states, when an order banned pleasure driving and slashed the amount of fuel oil that schools, stores, theaters and non-residential establishments may consume to 25 per cent below present rations, giving them about 48 per cent of normal requirements.

Future operation of many amusement places was left in doubt, since the OPA order specifically banned motoring to theaters as well as race tracks, and the fuel restrictions threatened to make theaters and night clubs cool beyond comfort. The OPA warned, too, that future cuts in non-residential fuel oil rations might be necessary.

Stern measures faced motorists violating the new orders. Any car owner driving to amusement centers or to "purely social engagements" was liable to the cancellation of all or part of his gasoline ration.

Washington MERRY-GO-ROUND

DREW PEARSON

Washington, D. C.
THE GENERAL'S TWO WIVES
There was much more than meets the eye in the departure of Gen. Hsiung Shih-fel, head of the Chinese military mission to Washington. It had its intriguing personal side, but also it went deep into the vitals of our most difficult war problem.

On the personal side, it happened that General Hsiung had two wives, which in China is a criterion of power and prestige. But it also happened that Madame Chiang Kai-shek, educated in the United States, does not approve of two wives.

When in China, Madame Chiang does not interfere with the military appointments of her husband. But in the United States, General Hsiung is reported to believe that the situation might have been otherwise, and that the U. S. A., big as it is, might have been too small for both of them.

FARM FIGHT

A group of presidents of land grant colleges, headed by President H. C. "Curley" Byrd of the University of Maryland, called on Secretary of Agriculture Wickard the other day. Behind that call was one of the most important fights which will come before the present Congress.

Actually the land grant college presidents came to propose an agricultural program which they think will overcome the food shortages. But behind this is a plan to put control of the farm economy back into the hands of the farm bureau and the powerful farm lobbies. It is a fight which probably will keep up a running fire all during Congress.

Background of the fight goes back to early in the Roosevelt administration when Henry Wallace, then secretary of agriculture, delivered a speech in which he criticized his own agriculture department for helping only the one-third upper-crust farmers. The great mass of the farmers, he said, the tenants, the little farmers, and farm labor, got no help from the government.

Wallace was referring to the fact that the American Farm Bureau federation, the Grange, the National Co-operative Milk Producers, and other organizations with powerful lobbies in Washington, had always influenced farm policies and dominated the agriculture department.

Working hand in glove with them have been the land grant colleges, the state commissioners of agriculture, the county agents, and the farm extension services.

These groups controlled agriculture locally, even when Washington was supplying a majority of the funds.

HITLER OR JAPAN?

Another factor, however, goes much deeper and is one reason behind reports that Gen. Joseph Stilwell may return as head of the U. S. military mission to China.

This factor is the Chinese argument that Japan is a greater enemy than Hitler, coupled with the fear that after we have defeated Hitler, we will make peace with Japan at the expense of China.

This fear is one which cannot be laughed off easily. In fact, it will take a lot of persuading to dispel Chinese worries. They know that a lot of the career gentlemen, powerful in the state department, have contended that Japan should have her place in the sun. They know that some of the state department clique tacitly favored Japanese occupation of Manchuria, while the British almost openly supported it.

The realistic Chinese, therefore, argue that after Hitler is defeated Japan is more than likely to propose a compromise (as she got Ted Roosevelt to do to end the Russo-Japanese war) whereby Japan gets a slice of China and the world gets a rest from war.

The realistic Chinese also know that they could make peace with Japan tomorrow by giving her several treaty ports and a slice of the North. In fact, the Japs probably would like nothing better than a peace which would permit them to withdraw half a million men from China and use them against us in the Pacific.

Finally Chiang Kai-shek has his own troubles with his generals, many of them pliable to Jap wills, especially "silver bullets," which the Japs claim is the easiest way to win wars.

So Chiang needs something to show to keep his generals in line—either more arms, which he is not getting; or a treaty from the United States pledging we will fight to the end until China is absolutely free.

Instead of such a pledge, Chiang has a military mission headed by a man whom the Chinese don't like—General Stilwell. Joe Stilwell comes from the old school which didn't particularly like the Chinese, and the Chinese make no bones about the fact that they don't like him.

He insists on doing all his business direct with the generalissimo, talking to him only.

As a result, Willkie was given a message to take back to Roosevelt to get General Stilwell out of the picture.

Remember the other nations the people will not be as fortunate because you can't get as much coffee as you did a year ago, or as much sugar, or the exact sort of meat you used to prefer. There is a plenty of meat, the economy cuts and bones.

Here, on page 2, you will find a new and delicious cookie for Victory Hints. Make them in your oven, and you will be surprised how good they taste.

TRY THESE RECIPES WHICH ARE VARIOUS CUTS, BUT AS RICH IN FLAVOR AS THE ORIGINAL, HAVE BEEN ADAPTED TO THE ECONOMIC CUTS AND BONES. Due to the fact that the original recipe calls for 2 1/2 cups of flour, we have reduced this to 1 cup. This will make the cookies taste better and cost less.
